

Rick Dillingham Collection

New Mexico Museum of Art Library and Archives

Introduction

Rick Dillingham [hereinafter RD], whose full name was James Richard Dillingham II, was born in Illinois in 1952. His college education during the years 1968 – 1976 secured him a Bachelor of Arts Degree at the University of New Mexico (1974) and a Master's Degree from Claremont Graduate School, Scripps College, at Claremont, California (1976).

His principal work as an artist was in the field of ceramics where he achieved international primacy. Representative pieces of his work are held in the Victoria Albert Museum in London, the National Museum of Ceramic Art in Baltimore, Maryland, the Smithsonian Institution, and the New Mexico Museum of Art in Santa Fe.

He was best known, for his "broken pottery" technique involving the deliberate destruction of pottery made by him, the decoration and coloring of the shards, and their reconstruction when his artistic applications were completed.

Scope and Content Note

Part One presents scrapbooks, correspondence, announcements, catalogs, correspondence and other "paper records" and memorabilia. Part Two presents an enormous collection of photographs, 35mm slides, transparencies, postcards, and related material. Additional material is stored in the Collections Department of the New Mexico Museum of Art, and is accessible upon request. The Photography Archives of the Palace of the Governors in Santa Fe contain even more material.

Juliet Myers' name appears throughout the Collection. She was the curator for and agent of RD, and frequently spoke in his name.

RD suffered from AIDS during the latter part of his life, a malady referred to time and again in correspondence sent to him. He succumbed to the disease in 1994 at the age of 41 years.

Section II : Correspondence

Foreword

The correspondence in this Section II is composed, with rare exceptions, of letters, notes and cards sent to RD. Most of them are originals. Some have illegible signatures and dates.

The material was found scattered in the 18 cartons containing the Collection. In some instances the material was in labeled folders. Those labels of contents have been retained to maintain the integrity of the donated Collection even though it results in duplication of headings and letter-writers in many cases. Hence, by way of example, there are several groups of birthday and holiday cards, of personal correspondence, and of letters and cards relating to art topics.

All letters and cards, while kept in the folders found, have been rearranged in chronologic order. Only those of special interest have been summarized. Birthday and holiday cards, however, have been kept in the unassorted condition found.

In order to correlate the various folders in this Section, it is suggested that those perusing this Collection study the Table of Contents for Section II where all the subsections are listed in the order presented.

SECTION III

BEATRICE WOOD

Preliminary Comments

The legendary potter, Beatrice Wood [BW], died on March 12, 1998, just days after celebrating her 105th birthday. She was a part of the avant-garde circle of artists associated with New York Dada. Her greatest achievement probably was her perfection of luster glazes which led to her receiving honors in California: the Governor's Award for the Arts (1994), the American Craft Council with its Gold Medal (1972), and the National Council on Education for the Ceramic Arts with an Honorary Membership (1987), among many others.

She lived in California's Ojai Valley, having been born in San Francisco and raised in New York. She was strongly influenced by early years in France.

Her extensive correspondence with RD and her work in the field of ceramics parallel with that of RD call for a separate Section devoted to her.

Her autobiography was published in 1985 under the title, I Shock Myself, a copy of which is in the museum's library.

The material is digested under the following headings.

- A. Biographic articles.
- B. Beatrice Wood letters to Rick Dillingham.
- C. Beatrice Wood letters to Jose M. G. Colino.
- D. Photos of Wood and works.
- E. Exhibits and announcements.
- F. Miscellaneous records.

Section IV : Private Collections/Gallery Collections

The material in this Section consists mostly of records of galleries and private individuals who acquired works of RD either as collectors or to offer for sale. These records contain what may be called "acquisition sheets," each of which sets forth the date and piece number; the name and address of the purchaser; the seller; a description and title of the piece; and the price paid. The records are too numerous to permit individual identification. Instead, they are filed alphabetically. Some include correspondence, polaroid color pictures, etc. The numbers in parentheses connote the numbers of documents in the folders.

The Chapella Family
The Nampeyo Family
The Navasie Family

Acoma Pueblo

The Chino Family
The Lewis Family

Zia Pueblo

The Medina Family

Cochiti Pueblo

The Herrera Family

Santa Domingo Pueblo

The Melchor Family
The Tenorio Family

Santa Clara Pueblo

The Chavarria Family
The Gutierrez Family
The Tafoya Family

San Ildefonso Pueblo

The Gonzales Family
The Martinez Family

B. Family Trees and other papers

[The folders for the families, set up by RD, contain primarily family trees and drafts containing fragmentary data respecting some family members. Only two have additional material (Tafoya Family and Navasie Family).]

1. The Chapella Family.
2. The Nampeyo Family.
3. The Navasie Family

In addition to a family tree there are three yellow sheets with cross-references to other families, and key numbers to photographs found in the folder (10 sheets with black and white pictures, 8 1/2 x 11, some with two pictures to a sheet) of various pueblos comprising the 14 families.

4. The Chino Family.
5. The Lewis Family.
6. The Medina Family.
7. The Herrera Family.
8. The Tenorio Family.
9. The Chavarria Family.
Only rough notes for a family tree.
10. The Gutierrez Family.

11. The Tafoya Family.

"Fourteen Families in Pueblo Pottery.
Rick Dillingham
Foreword by J.J. Brody."

"University of New Mexico Press, 1994.
Revised and expanded ed. of Seven
Families in Pueblo Pottery, 1974."

[Foregoing folders material incorporated in book.]

15. Chart. [Source unknown.] Southwestern Indian Languages.
16. Chart. [Source unknown.] The Droughts of 1150, 1250, 1277, and 1450 led to major migrations, etc.
Chart traces pueblo farmer's movements.

[See also charts of RD which relate to these families. Section XXII A.]

Section VII : Inventories/Appraisals

It is not possible to correlate accurately all the material in this subsection and in the rest of this Section VII since most of it does not reflect dates or explanatory comments. But it does cast a light on the scope and volume of RD's products. Much of the longhand records were probably written by RD and his assistant Juliet Myers.

Box 143

D. The 1990s

RD died in January 1994. The records for the earlier years of the decade are fragmentary. Other records –presumably from from the 1990s –accumulated by RD and others, do not reflect full dates, and therefore cannot be digested in chronological order. Accordingly, they have been broken down into two (artificial) categories at the end of this subsection D (Folders 74-79).

- (i) Poster-type material.
- (ii) Flyers, announcements, catalogs.

1990

68. Announcement cards. The Society For Arts in Crafts. Pittsburgh, PA. Crafts of the American Southwest. April 6 –June 25, 1990.

The envelope enclosing the material lists the names of all artists whose work was exhibited, from Wesley Anderegg to Susan Zimmerman (in alphabetical order). Within the envelope are cards (28) for most, but not all of the exhibiting artists listed on the envelope. Each card sets forth a summary of previous selected exhibitions, and the dates for the forthcoming exhibition. Thus, RD card lists in reverse chronological order selected past exhibitions, and show dates April 6 –June 24, 1990. On the reverse side (as in all cases) is a photograph, black and white, of an RD work with descriptive information.

The last two cards have summary information about the artists.

2. Clippings during the 1980s.
3. Clippings, 1990-1994.

PART TWO

Introduction

The material in the following Sections consists of a great volume of postcards, blank and mailed, and an even greater volume of 35mm color slides; color prints of various sizes; large photographs of RD; negatives and transparencies; and other miscellaneous pictures. Most of the photographic material reproduces RD's works in such great quantities that it is nearly impossible to identify each piece. It is mute testimony to the enormous talents and productivity of the artist.

The work is stored in standard archive boxes and in oversize (O.B.) boxes, as required. A great part of the 35mm slides has been left in metal boxes as found. All those slides may be seen with the aid of a projector upon request made at the office of the librarian.

The material is digested under the following headings:

Section XVI, Picture postcards.

- A. Postcards, blank.
- B. Postcards, mailed.
- C. Postcards, oversize and specific topics.

Section XVII, 35mm slides.
